

Ex. 1.1

Having printed all the pixel values of the image, I see that the last column of the image is not white (the top right value is 247, while all the other values in this column are 248). This additional grey (or off-white) area explains why there are more non-white pixels than the pixels making the circle in the middle.